Born in 1927, Anjalendran was the son of a wealthy tea planter. He studied architecture at the University of Ceylon and then worked in the office of Geoffrey Bawa, the father of Sri Lankan architecture. In 1956, Anjalendran established his own practice and quickly gained a reputation for his innovative designs.

Anjalendran's architecture is characterized by its use of natural materials, its sensitivity to the environment, and its integration of traditional Sri Lankan elements. He is best known for his work on the Kandalama Hotel, the Heritance Ahungalla Hotel, and the Sri Lanka Parliament Building.

Anjalendran's work has been widely recognized and admired. He has received numerous awards, including the Gold Medal of the Royal Institute of British Architects and the Aga Khan Award for Architecture. He has also been featured in exhibitions around the world, including the Venice Biennale and the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

Anjalendran Architect of Sri Lanka is a valuable resource for anyone interested in architecture, Sri Lanka, or the history of modernism. The book is beautifully illustrated with photographs of Anjalendran's work and includes a comprehensive bibliography.
